

Personal Memo from
JOSHUA LEDERBERG

Dear Bob

Annie (sic) / re OTSOG+20

4/23/85
RKM

APR 22 1985

pointed out to me that the dwarf's eyes do not surmount the giant's. Whose jeans was that?
(Or have I forgotten something in the book?)

I had composed some bit of otsogable <sup>in</sup> earlier acclimation; but it is also lost in my tel (aeb. 6 mos.) It will surface (like other ropes of stone; but when it does,
I will pass it on for the bi-vicennial.
* (after OTSOG, what else is possible?)

You have some idea of my preoccupations the last several months, but unless you've just closetted with Eritz Stein you cannot know some of the most provocative. The MacArthur Foundation is challenging us in a way that would draw upon every resource of insight and ingenuity in the industrialization of social intelligence.

and I really need to top yours.

And we will need a telling slogan,
one better than "hateracrotic League" - a rather puny "joke" that you may be the one to see through after we've discussed the project.

Yours,

John

I was delighted to see Sunday's Book Review column
by Donoghue on a far better book than it was my lot to review.
